Subject Richard Lee Guthrie committed this robbery alone, was subsequently indicted and plead guilty in USDC, Cincinnati.b6

AUSA [redacted] stated that his office will not dismiss the indictment because of Guthrie's plea, but that the matter is considered closed by the U.S. Attorney's Office.

b6

All appropriate statistics have been submitted and any items contained in the 1A section of the file should be destroyed at some later date.

In view of Guthrie's lone involvement in this matter and that this Society Bank robbery has no connection to the proceedings against subject Peter Kevin Langan in Columbus, Ohio, and Guthrie's subsequent suicide on 07/12/1996, writer recommends that 91A-CI-65466 be closed.

ARMED AND EXTREMELY DANGEROUS

Synopsis: Results of plea negotiations with Scott Anthony Stedeford.

Details: For information receiving offices, on 08/27/1996, Scott Stedeford, through [redacted] advised that he was unwilling to cooperate with the Government and would not plead to his role in BOMBROB. However, he did state that if Michael Brescia decides to cooperate with the Government, he may change his mind at that time. Due to the fact Stedeford has been making contact with Brescia from the Polk County Jail in Des Moines, Iowa, it appears to be unlikely that Brescia will cooperate.

As a result, the following recommendations are made:

- The first step is to identify the specific needs of the target population. This can be done through surveys, focus groups, and other research methods.
- Once the needs are identified, the next step is to develop a plan of action. This plan should include specific goals, timelines, and resources required to address the needs.
- It is important to involve the target population in the planning process. This can help ensure that the plan is tailored to their specific needs and concerns.
- Finally, it is essential to monitor and evaluate the implementation of the plan. This will help ensure that the intended outcomes are achieved and make any necessary adjustments along the way.

Witness places Stedeford at heists

Suspect participated in 6 bank robberies, jury told

By Robert Radt
Dispatch Staff Reporter

DES MOINES — A series of prosecution witnesses yesterday buttressed earlier testimony that Steven A. Stedeford was a member of a heavily armed gang that robbed banks in Ohio and Midwestern states.

Kevin McCarthy, 19, the government's main witness, testified Wednesday that he participated in six heists with Stedeford, 27, and three other members of the so-called Midwestern Bank Bandits from Dec. 9, 1994, to Dec. 19, 1995.

But McCarthy's credibility was attacked by Nicholas Drees, Stedeford's attorney. Besides being an admitted armed robber, McCarthy had drug abuse problems and was committed to a mental hospital several years ago, Drees said during cross-examination of McCarthy.

In addition, the government is expected to file a leniency motion on McCarthy's behalf in exchange for his testimony, Drees noted.

Yesterday, the prosecutor provided other witnesses — with no criminal backgrounds — to corroborate McCarthy's testimony.

For instance, Dennis Helms, the 47-year-old owner of an auto repair shop in Pittsburg, Kan., testified that he repeatedly saw Stedeford in 1995 with two other alleged gang members — Peter "Commander Pedro" Langan and the late Richard Lee Guthrie Jr.

The three men visited his shop to drop off cars and vans that needed repairs, Helms said. He knew all three men by aliases, Helms testified. He said he discovered the true identities of Guthrie and Langan after they were arrested in January and phone conversations were aired on television.

On Wednesday, McCarthy testified that Stedeford, Langan and Guthrie took the gang's vehicles to a shop in Pittsburg for repairs.

Langan, 33, was arrested Jan. 18 behind 508 Reinhard Ave. on Columbus' South Side after a brief shootout with FBI agents and other officers. The gang had been using the Reinhard Avenue residence as a safe house since October 1995, authorities have said.

Guthrie, who was arrested Jan. 15 in Cleve-

Pranksters or hate-filled traitors?

Trial to begin for reputed head of Mid-Western Bank Bandits.

By SHARON COHEN

ASSOCIATED PRESS

COLUMBUS — The man in the mask glares into the camera. He casually brandishes a gun, then a machete, then a grenade. He laughs, flashes wads of cash and talks of an Aryan revolution.

Three cohorts in camouflage, armed with semiautomatics, join him on the homemade video. One slunks down a money-filled plastic pumpkin in front of the masked man, who congratulates the group on a job well done.

It seems surreal, this two-hour video of idle boasts and grandiose plans by men in military garb and disguises. But the message — an anti-Semitic, racist rant advocating violence — is chillingly real.

"Our basic goal," rasps the hooded figure who identifies himself as Commander Pedro, "is to set up an Aryan republic. Don't mistake us for cultists. We ladies and gentlemen, are your neighbors."

Few minutes cost bank

bandits $25,000, teller says

By Robert R. Lach
Columbus Dispatch

The Midwestern Bank Bandits hit a Springdale, Ohio, bank just a few minutes too late on June 8, 1994, or they would have taken three times as much money, testimony in U.S. District Court revealed yesterday.

Two masked members of the gang, brandishing handguns, rushed into the former Society National Bank shortly after it opened at 9 a.m., and quickly fled with $11,450 from teller drawers, Antrey Johnson, a teller, told an eight-woman, six-man jury.

But just minutes earlier, Johnson testified, an additional $25,000 in cash had been lying on her counter. Just before the robbers entered, she had put the money in the bank's safe-deposit box, withdrew and then picked up the ATM. Johnson said in answer to a question from Assistant U.S. Attorney Richard J. Trinkley.

Johnson, a former employee of the bank, now defense witness, testified during the fifth day of the trial of Peter "Commons" Langen, 39, an assured leader of the Bank Bandits. U.S. District Judge

John D. Hobanah is presiding.

Langen is charged with five counts involving the armed robbery of the Cincinnati-area Springdale bank, and of the former Columbus National Bank, 6121 E. Livingston Ave., on Oct. 25, 1994. Columbus National is now the Wheeling National Bank.

The gang is suspected of robbing 20 more banks in Ohio and other states in 1994 and 1995. Langen was arrested Jan. 18, 1995, in a van parked behind 525 Remond Ave. on the South Side after a brief shootout with authorities.

Shawn Keagy, a former white-supremacist skinhead, testified Trinkley that he helped Langen and the late Richard Lee Gubrie Jr., a co-leader of the gang, case the Springdale bank in 1994.

Shortly after that robbery, as thanks for robbing the bank, Gubrie gave Keagy $10 in dye-stained bills and told him that he and Langen had recently held up the bank. Keagy denied that.

The jury also learned of the $100 of the cash from the Springdale bank became a red-dye post, which was hidden in the money, captioned as they were writing that

Neo-Nazi says he had no part in bank gang

By Robert Ruth
Dispatch Staff Reporter

Mark Thomas, a Pennsylvania neo-Nazi leader, yesterday denied ever helping to recruit members for the Midwestern Bank Bandits.

Thomas, 46, who lives on a small farm near Allentown, responded to allegations made in testimony in federal courts in Columbus and Des Moines, Iowa.

The latest allegation came Tuesday in testimony by Shawn Kenny, a former white-supremacist skinhead, in U.S. District Court in Columbus. Kenny, 24, testified as a prosecution witness in the bank robbery trial of Peter "Commander Pedro" Langan, an accused leader of the Bank Bandits.

Kenny told jurors that several years ago he and Thomas discussed the possibility of Thomas recruiting members for the gang. Kenny also testified that he gave Thomas a package of false identification cards.

Kevin McCarthy, a 19-year-old former member of the gang, also mentioned Thomas when McCarthy testified in a federal bank robbery trial in Des Moines in November and in a July pre-trial hearing in Columbus.

Scott A. Stedeford, a 28-year-old member of the Bank Bandits, was convicted of three bank robbery-related charges in the Des Moines trial. The pre-trial hearing in Columbus involved Langan's case.

In both court appearances, McCarthy testified that Thomas attended a Nov. 14, 1994, meeting in Van Buren, Ark., during which McCarthy was recruited into the gang.

McCarthy also testified in the Des Moines trial that Thomas supplied the gang with bogus identification documents.

In a telephone interview with The Dispatch yesterday, Thomas denied the allegations. "No, it's not true," he said.

Thomas acknowledged knowing both Stedeford and McCarthy. However, he did not realize that they were suspected of robbing banks until after they were arrested in May 1996, Thomas said. He has never met Kenny or Langan, Thomas added.

Thomas said he knows he is the target of a conspiracy investigation being conducted by federal authorities in Philadelphia. The probe is attempting to link Thomas to the Bank Bandits.

But he has done nothing illegal, Thomas said. The government has targeted him because he is "a journalist in the American dissident movement," Thomas said. "I'm somebody who has been extremely critical of the government."

Thomas is the Pennsylvania director of the Aryan Nation, a nationwide neo-Nazi group headquartered in Hayden Lake, Idaho. He also operates a neo-Nazi Web site on the Internet called The Watchman.

Thomas has been a leading advocate of the so-called Christian Identity sect, which believes that Jews are the children of Satan and blacks and other minorities are "mud people."

In April 1994, Thomas sponsored a Hitler Youth Festival at his farm and in October 1995 sponsored a White Pride Day celebration.

Bank Bandit trial focusing for

■ An ex-gang member is expected to tie the evidence to the robberies.

By Robert Ruth
Dispatch Staff Reporter

The prosecution in the Midwestern Bank Bandits trial continued yesterday laying the groundwork for upcoming testimony from its star witness, a 19-year-old former member of the gang.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Robyn Jones brooked no witness after witness to identify guns, bomb-making material, masks and other items the prosecution contends were used by Peter "Commander Pedro" Langan and other gang members in bank robberies in Ohio and six other states.

The evidence was seized in January and February 1996 by FBI agents in searches of vehicles, houses and storage lockers allegedly used by the gang. Most of yesterday's witnesses in U.S. District Court were FBI agents involved in the items' seizure and analysis.

Much of this evidence is expected to reinforce future testimony by Kevin McCarthy, a self-confessed member of the heavily armed gang.

McCarthy, in a June pretrial hearing in Columbus and in the November trial of another gang member in Des Moines, Iowa, testified that the Bank Bandits used an elaborate array of equipment to stage their robberies.

Yesterday and Tuesday the prosecution introduced as evidence two bulletproof vests; a semiautomatic pistol; an assault rifle; bomb-making equipment, including plastic and steel pipes, wires, a timer and gunpowder; radio communications manuals; five masks; money bags; and four bogus drivers licenses.

The communications manuals assisted the gang in using police radio scanners, the prosecution is expected to argue later.

McCarthy testified in his earlier court appearances that the gang used fake identification to buy getaway cars and guns.

McCarthy is expected to repeat this testimony when he takes the stand soon in Langan's trial.

Langan, a 38-year-old alleged leader of the Bank Bandits, is charged with robbing the former Columbus National Bank, 6121 E. Livingston Ave., and the former Society National Bank of Springdale, Ohio, in 1994.

He is expected to be tried for other bank robberies once his Columbus trial is over.

Langan was arrested Jan. 18, 1996, in a van parked behind 585 Reinhard Ave. on the South Side. Many of the items introduced in the trial yesterday and Tuesday were confiscated from the van and the Reinhard residence, which the gang allegedly used as a "safe house."

The introduction of evidence seized by FBI agents is not as dramatic as earlier testimony from tellers and customers who were in the Columbus and Springdale banks when they were robbed.

However, this evidence is seen as crucial to the government's case. This evidence is expected to add credibility to McCarthy's testimony. In his opening statement Jan. 8, Assistant U.S. Attorney Dana M. Peters acknowledged that McCarthy is a rather unsavory character.

McCarthy and another prosecution witness "are not saints," Peters said. In the Iowa trial, testimony revealed that McCarthy was not only a confessed bank robber but also was a former white supremacist, drug- and alcohol-abuser who once was confined to a mental institution.

But the prosecution contends that its case is not based merely on McCarthy's testimony. His statements will be backed up, the prosecution argues, by testimony from other witnesses and by evidence.

Prosecutors: Bank jobs financed cause

Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA — A group of white supremacists robbed Midwest banks to bankroll their movement, which teaches that people of color are "mud races" and gays should be executed, federal prosecutors say.

The five men — including Mark Thomas, a minister in the Christian Identity Movement and leader of the Aryan Nations in Pennsylvania — were charged Thursday with conspiring to rob seven banks in 1994 and 1995.

Three of the men were also charged last year with robbing 22 banks of $250,000 as members of the self-proclaimed "Mid-Western Bank Bandits," also known as the Aryan Republican Army. The gang's alleged ringleader, Peter Langan, 38, is standing trial in Columbus, Ohio.

ing the investigation of the Oklahoma City bombing. He once lived with a German citizen whom bombing suspect Timothy McVeigh tried to call 12 days before the attack.

McVeigh's sister, Jennifer, reportedly told the FBI that her brother helped plan some of the Midwest bank robberies and asked her to launder some of the loot. McVeigh's lawyer, Stephen Jones, said McVeigh was only joking.

U.S. Attorney Michael R. Stiles said Thursday's indictment was not connected to the Oklahoma investigation.

Four suspects split proceeds from robberies and gave some money to Thomas, who planned but did not participate in the heists, Stiles said.

Thomas, 44, surrendered to the FBI in Allentown, while Brescia was arrested outside his house in Philadelphia as he was leaving for work.

The indictment charges that Thomas, Brescia, Langan, McCarthy and Scott William Stedford, 27, conspired to rob banks in Ohio, Missouri, Wisconsin and Iowa from October 1994 to December 1995.

BY LUCY MAY

The Cincinnati Enquirer

COLUMBUS — The federal government says he's Commander Pedro, leader of a band of white supremacist terrorists called the Aryan Republican Army.

The gang stands accused of robbing 22 banks in seven Midwestern states—including one in Springdale—to finance a political revolution. Its goal: to overthrow the government, exterminate Jews, deport African-Americans, and execute President Clinton and U.S. Attorney General Janet Reno as war criminals.

In a recruiting tape, Commander Pedro tells viewers not to mistake the Aryan Republican Army for extremist, David Koresh types.

Peter Kevin Langan, the man the government calls Commander Pedro, was indeed our neighbor—he was a Greater Cincinnati resident on and off going back several years.

Mr. Langan, now standing trial in Columbus for the armed robberies of the Springdale bank and one in Columbus, has denied the charges against him. His problems multiplied last week when a federal grand jury in Philadelphia indicted him and four other men in connection with six other bank robberies.

Mr. Langan isn't talking about his legal troubles. But he willingly discussed his Cincinnati ties. In response to questions submitted by The Enquirer, he sounded eager to return here:

"I have many happy memories of Cincinnati and expect to have more upon my return," Mr. Langan wrote. "To all my friends, family, customers and supporters: Thank you, I love you and God bless."

Cincinnati-area holdups relatively rare but notorious

BY TANYA BRICKING

The Cincinnati Enquirer

Cincinnati has it better than Ohio's other big cities when it comes to bank robberies.

Greater Cincinnati reported 23 bank robberies in 1996 — about half as many as Columbus and about one-seventh of those reported in Cleveland.

While the Cincinnati area has had three bank robberies this year, "it's pretty static," Cincinnati FBI spokesman Ed Boldt said.

Still, the area has connections with some of the most high-profile bank-robbery suspects in recent history.

Former Cincinnatian Peter Langan is said to be a leader of the Midwestern Bank Bandits, responsible for bank robberies from Springdale to Columbus.

Christopher Kerins, a former New Jersey undercover police officer, made headlines last year after robbing a Kenwood bank while in town for a police convention.

He pleaded guilty in Cincinnati, but still faces federal charges by

The typical bank robber is a man working alone who's involved with narcotics and wants quick cash, said Peter Baldassaro Jr., a bank executive in New Orleans who trains bank staffs across the country to deal with robberies.

"Banks train the front-line staff to reduce chances anyone will get hurt," said Sonia Barbara, spokeswoman for the American Bankers Association, who attended a security seminar last week. "It remains a top priority for us. The type of robberies seem to be authorities who have identified him as the "Camouflage Bandit," wanted for a string of bank robberies in New Jersey.

In southwestern Ohio, only about 35 percent of bank robbers get away with it, Mr. Boldt said. That's true of the rest of the state, said Robert Hawk, special agent with the FBI in Cleveland.

"You go in, you usually get your photograph taken, you usually get a good description, you usually get caught," he said.

"It's hard to say why people do it."

White supremacist is subpoenaed as witness

By Robert Ruth
Dispatch Staff Reporter

Mark Thomas, a Pennsylvania white supremacist who was indicted yesterday on a conspiracy charge, has been subpoenaed as a defense witness in the Midwestern Bank Bandits trial in Columbus.

Thomas' subpoena was revealed during his initial-appearance hearing in U.S. District Court in Allentown, Pa. Thomas was arrested earlier in the day on his farm outside Allentown on a charge that he and others assisted the Bank Bandits in their two-year robbery spree in Ohio and six other states.

Peter "Commander Pedro" Langan, 38, an accused leader of the gang, has been on trial in U.S. District Court in Columbus since Jan. 8. He is charged with two 1994 Ohio robberies — one at the former Columbus National Bank, 6121 E. Livingston Ave., and the other at the former Society National Bank in Springdale, Ohio.

Thomas, 46, was mentioned repeatedly throughout testimony yesterday in Columbus by Kevin W. McCarthy, a 19-year-old key prosecution witness in Langan's trial.

McCarthy testified that Thomas accompanied him to a meeting Nov. 18, 1994, in Van Buren, Ark., during which McCarthy was recruited into the Bank Bandits.

"He (Langan) explained to me about the group, explained the dangers and explained he had 12 robberies under his belt," McCarthy said.

One of the gang's main goals,

U.S. VS. PETER KEVIN LANGAN

CASE NO.: CR-2-96-15

Synopsis: Evidence suppressed by District Court Judge, Southern District of Ohio; details set forth.Details: By Memorandum and Order dated 12/23/96, a U.S. District Court Judge, Southern District of Ohio, suppressed evidence in a bank robbery trial that had been seized by FBI Agents pursuant to a consent to search from the defendant.

On 1/18/96, PETER KEVIN LANGAN was arrested by FBI Agents and Task Force personnel in Columbus, Ohio, during which arrest shots were fired by law enforcement personnel which resulted in superficial wounds to LANGAN. Although the arrest was based upon a Title 18, United States Code, Section 1073 (UFAP) complaint and warrant issued in the Middle District of Georgia, LANGAN was very strongly suspected as being one of the so-called "Midwestern Bank Robbers", a gang suspected of having committed more than 20 bank robberies throughout the midwest, including Ohio.

As the defendant was being removed from his van upon his arrest, he was asked his name, to which he responded, "I want to talk to a lawyer". Paramedics transporting LANGAN to the hospital described his injuries as minor, and characterized LANGAN as being alert and aware, the attending physician at the hospital concurred with these assessments, tests performed at the hospital disclosed no drug use and he was given no medication which could affect his cognitive ability.

At the conclusion of medical treatment, and still at the hospital, LANGAN was advised of his Miranda rights by an FBI regarding the storage locker being developed was initiated by the defendant, noting that LANGAN was taken to an interview room at the FCSO and readvised of his Miranda rights for the specific purpose of interrogating him, and that that process was not initiated by LANGAN. The Judge then found that the statements made by LANGAN at the FCSO were unlawfully obtained during an interrogation in violation of LANGAN's right to have counsel present during that interrogation.

The trial Judge also rejected the government's proposition that LANGAN's consent to search the storage locker was free and voluntary under the totality of circumstances test of Schneckloth v. Bustamonte, 412 U.S. 218 (1973), and therefore was a valid consent. Referring to Edwards once again, the trial Judge noted that regardless of how voluntary a consent to search may be, that consent does not constitute a waiver of the asserted right to counsel any more than the voluntary statement in Edwards constituted a waiver of the asserted right to counsel in that case. The Court held that a violation of the requirement that interrogation cease once a person in custody has requested counsel directly involves a violation of the defendant's constitutional rights under the Fifth Amendment, not simply a violation of a court-created prophylactic rule. As such, the Court ruled that the products of that unlawful interrogation, both the statements of the defendant and his consent to search the storage locker (found by the Court to have been given voluntarily), must be suppressed, and held further that the evidence seized from the storage locker must also be suppressed as the fruits of the poisonous tree.

The Court thereafter considered and rejected alternative government arguments that the evidence should be introducible under the "public safety" exception or the "inevitable discovery" exception to the Miranda rule.

In February of this year, after a 7-week trial, LANGAN was found guilty of all counts, in spite of the suppression of the storage locker evidence.

The Aryan Nations' Buckeye battle cry

What the hell's happening in Ohio? The Kehoe brothers, Chevie and Cheyne, white supremacists, shoot it out with state troopers in Wilmington, Ohio; Aryan Nations, the American Nazi party, Klansmen, racist skinheads and Christian Identity hate preachers converge at the Capitol; and Peter Langan, leader of the Midwest Bank Bandits and the Aryan Republican Army, is busted living on the south side of Columbus—here in the heart of it all.

White supremacists who've long dreamed of their "own private Idaho"—where Aryan Nations founder Richard Butler established his 20-acre compound in rural Hayden Lake in the early '70s—now have their sights set on Ohio.

Floyd Cochran, former high-ranking Aryan Nations official turned anti-racist activist, repeatedly warned that Ohio, especially the southeast portion, is a prime target of white supremacists. "Just last fall I spoke in Athens, Ohio before a feminist group and I warned them of the growing danger in Ohio. The organizer told me that I should quit frightening people, that she lives in Ohio and I don't know what I'm talking about," recalled Cochran.

Unfortunately, Cochran knows all too well the dangers of Aryan Nations. He lives in Pennsylvania, close to Mark Thomas' farm outside Macungie. Thomas, who was indicted on January 30 as a co-conspirator in the Midwest Bank Bandit robberies, is a key link between American white supremacists organizations. Thomas has served as national leader of the violent anti-government Posse Comitatus, as "Imperial Chaplain" of the Invisible Empire Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, as a Christian Identity preacher, and until his recent indictment, currently the Aryan Nations' leader in Pennsylvania. During the 1990s, Thomas attracted scores of skinheads and assorted white supremacists to rallies and weekly "Bible Studies" at his Macungie compound. Thomas' tactics revolve around creating a united front of racists and anti-Semites. What we saw in Columbus three weeks ago at the Statehouse is the type of coalition Thomas craved.

It should come as no shock that the Kehoe brothers from Colville, Washington, a short distance from Butler's Hayden Lake compound, shot it out with state troopers in Wilmington. They were, no doubt, in the area for the gathering of the racist tribes. Just 10 miles from Wilmington is New Vienna, where Ohio racists are dreaming of a white revolution and building for that day. Anthony "Tony" Wayne Gamble, Imperial Wizard of the Knight Riders of the KKK, testified back in June of 1995 in a case concerning the tearing down of the Klan cross in Cincinnati. He revealed how his Ross, Ohio-based Klan members worked with Aryan Nation supporters at the Christian Identity House of the Good Shepherd's church in New Vienna. This is where the Klan's Cincinnati Christmas cross was built in 1994.

This Klan/Nazi merger under the guise of white supremacist Christian Identity theology is pivotal to understanding the current racial violence in Ohio. As Klanwatch reported in March 1995, the more violent white supremacist group Aryan Nations staged an alarming comeback in 1994. In 1993, Aryan Nations was in only three states. Aided by money provided by the Midwest Bank Bandits, the Idaho-based group swept into 15 new states in 1994, including Ohio, and ended up in 30 states by 1995. Aryan Nations had declined dramatically after its peak in 1983-84, after its offshoot, the Order, killed a state trooper, an Aryan Nation member, and Jewish talk show host Alan Berg. The Order, like the Midwest Bank Bandits, specialized in armed robberies to finance the racist revolution.

With the rise of the Aryan Nations in 1994, so rose militia and states' rights organizations in the aftermath of the 1992 Ruby Ridge, Idaho shoot-out between the FBI and the white separatist Randy Weaver, and the destruction of the Waco, Texas Branch Davidian complex in 1993. Ohio saw the dramatic rise of the Ohio Unorganized Militia. Michael Hill, chaplain in the Militia and an organizer of Ohio's One Supreme Court, a common-law court that meets regularly in Columbus, was shot to death during a traffic stop on June 28, 1995 in Muskingum County. The Columbus Dispatch reported that Michael Hill's widow, Arlene, held a memorial service for her slain husband on Sunday, June 30, 1995. It casually mentioned that Colorado preacher Pete Peters and North Carolinian Nord Davis "are scheduled to speak." What it failed to mention was that Peters is one of America's more influential and active Christian Identity propagandists and theologians. His sermons are based on the militant Christian Identity and anti-Semitic beliefs that Jews pose a satanic threat to American civilization, that black and other people of color are subhuman and that homosexuals should be executed.

In Michael Barkham's book, Religion and the Racist Right, he discusses Peters' Remnant Resolves—a statement of political principles concerning Identity believers. Peters holds that God's law is "binding...on all men, regardless of their political persuasion or personal beliefs." Thus, "the role of civil authority is to administer God's law." The logic of this belief is that secular humanist civil authorities, whether cops or judges, don't have to be obeyed. God's law, of course, is known only to the likes of Michael Hill, Pete Peters, Tony Gamble, Richard Butler, Mark Thomas and their racist ilk.

Nord Davis, the other speaker mentioned by the Dispatch, is a well-known North Carolina white supremacist who organized a trip to Jordan during the Gulf War to support Saddam Hussein. After all, it's standard Christian Identity doctrine that the Zionist Jews, the spawn of Satan, are spiraling history toward Armageddon. The presence of prominent racists like Davis and Peters at Hill's memorial established all-too-clear links between the Ohio Unorganized Militia and the white supremacist movement.

The anti-government sentiments of the militia movement make it a prime recruiting ground for white supremacists. A May 1995 Newsweek article reported that federal investigators of the Oklahoma City bombing were "looking closely at a white supremacist group headed by Robert Millar in Elohim City, Oklahoma."

Following the Oklahoma City bombing, the militia movement came under intense government scrutiny. The media revealed that both suspects, Timothy McVeigh and Terry Nichols, had attended militia meetings in Michigan. Federal prosecutors charged that McVeigh's motivation in the bombing was his intense hatred of the fed-

A 1995 Klanwatch Intelligence Report listed the following hate groups as active in Ohio: the International Ku Klux Klan in Sandusky, Knight Riders in Ross, Knights of the KKK in Columbus, Northern Knights and Aryan Nations in Dayton, Aryan Racial Loyalist Party and White Christian Guard in Euclid, National Alliance of Sigma, the C.A. Klan Knights Minutemen in Marion Heights.

Aryan Nation leader cops plea*Mark Thomas

The leader of the Aryan Nations in Pennsylvania pleaded guilty Tuesday to plotting seven Midwest bank robberies and using the cash to bankroll the group. Mark Thomas, 46, had first pleaded innocent; the switch cuts his possible prison time from up to 25 years to 11 to 14. The admission could signal

Thomas will cooperate with prosecutors in their case against others in the Aryan Republican Army. That would be a coup for federal officials trying to crack the white supremacy movement, said attorney Brian Levin, a professor at the Center for Hate and Extremism in Pomona, N.J. "He is a virtual Rolodex for the far-right white supremacist world," Levin said.

Aryan leader pleads guilty

The white supremacist, accused in robberies, said he would cooperate. Some call that a blow to the hate movement.

INQUIRER STAFF WRITERS

Mark William Thomas, the guru of Pennsylvania white supremacists, stunned his supporters yesterday by pleading guilty to conspiring to rob Midwestern banks and promising to tell authorities everything he knows about criminal activity by racial extremists nationwide.

Brian Levin, director of the Center on Hate and Extremism at Stockton State College in Pomona, N.J., said Thomas' pledge to cooperate "is by far the most significant catch of this decade."

"It is hard to overstate just how trusted and respected Thomas is in the white-supremacist world," Levin said, asserting that Thomas has been especially effective at recruiting young people into the movement.

Thomas, 46, whose Berks County farm has long been a meeting place for neo-Nazis, Skinheads and other white right-wing groups, has been involved with such organizations as the Ku Klux Klan, the Aryan Nation and the Aryan Republican Army over the last 25 years.

He was one of five men, three from the Philadelphia area, who were indicted last month on charges of conspiring to rob seven Midwest banks in 1994 and 1995 to generate money for their movement.

Thomas, who pleaded not guilty two weeks ago, reversed himself yesterday. At a hearing in federal court here marked by unusually tight security, he entered a guilty plea to conspiracy and to receiving proceeds of the bank robberies. He faces a maximum prison sentence of 25 years.

In an eight-page plea agreement, Thomas promised to provide information about the bank heists and "any other crimes about which he has knowledge."

In return, the U.S. Attorney's Office said it would ask the sentencing judge to consider Thomas' cooperation and possibly impose a lesser term than called for under federal guidelines. Under the agreement, Thomas' sentencing will be "postponed until his cooperation is complete."

Thomas' attorney, David Maynard, said outside the courtroom that his client would "cooperate fully." Thomas has been held without bail at an undisclosed location since he was arrested by the FBI Jan. 30.

Word of the plea and Thomas' promise to help the FBI jolted hate groups around the country — and heartened organizations that oppose them.

"This is very significant.

Synopsis: This EC advising of the closing of the above investigative files in captioned case.

b6

Details: On 3/27/97, Assistant United States Attorney (AUSA) [redacted] District of Kansas, advised he was declining prosecution of Peter Langan in captioned investigation.

[redacted] advised the above decision was based upon several factors such as the suppression of the evidence obtained in the consent to search of a storage locker in Shawnee, Kansas rented by Langan. [redacted] advised that due to the conviction of Langan in Columbus, Ohio on bank robbery and explosive related charges, he felt justice would be better served with the declination, of these cases.

b7c

Kansas City also advised [redacted] that investigation of the two KC robberies failed to produce any witnesses that could positively identify Langan as one of the robbers. As the Bureau is aware Richard Guthrie(deceased) provided detailed confession concerning his involvement in the KC robberies, along with Langan. AUSA [redacted] advised without Guthrie's testimony, successful prosecution was unlikely.

Dear [Redacted]

Please express my appreciation to Police Officer [Redacted] (Badge Number [Redacted]). Officer [Redacted] acquired information relevant to the robbery of the Society National Bank, 11355 Princeton Pike, Springdale, Ohio which occurred on June 8, 1994. Pursuing investigative leads, [Redacted] Officer [Redacted] the FBI positively identified the robbery subjects as Richard Lee Guthrie, Jr. and Peter Kevin Langan. Multiple robberies committed in Ohio and the Midwest were later attributed to these same individuals, portrayed by the media as the Midwestern Bank Bandits.

Richard Lee Guthrie, Jr. and Peter Kevin Langan were arrested by the Cincinnati FBI Office. Guthrie committed suicide at Kenton County jail last year. Just recently, Langan was convicted in federal court at Columbus, Ohio for robbery of the Springdale bank. Additional charges are pending in other cities. Numerous other individuals have been linked to these white supremacists.

[Redacted] The FBI appreciates the cooperative effort of Officer [Redacted]. Again, please convey our gratitude.

Dear [Redacted]

Please express my appreciation to Sergeant [Redacted] Sergeant [Redacted] and Patrol Officer [Redacted] for their investigative contributions with resolving the robbery of the Society National Bank, 11355 Princeton Pike, Springdale, Ohio which occurred on June 8, 1994. As you know, a tremendous amount of effort was expended by these officers, during the investigative phase and also during the recent prosecution of robbery subject, Peter Kevin Langan, at Columbus, Ohio. [Redacted] [Redacted] in federal court was quite significant and crucial to Langan's conviction for armed bank robbery.

As you know, both Langan and his accomplice during this robbery, Richard Lee Guthrie, Jr., became known as the Midwestern Bank Bandits for their numerous other robberies. Their arrests by this office, and the resulting interviews, identified other criminal activities linked to individuals espousing white supremacy.

The FBI appreciates the cooperative effort of the Springdale, Ohio Police Department during this investigative matter. In particular, express my gratitude to [Redacted]
[Redacted] for their personal effort.

FBI agent recalls

gunbattle

Langan shootout on South Side recounted

By Tim Doulin
Dispatch Staff Reporter

An FBI agent testified yesterday that he fired four rounds from a shotgun into a van from which he saw Peter "Commander Pedro" Langan pointing a silver handgun at him and his partner.

That touched off a gunbattle that saw federal agents pump about 50 shots into the van.

When the smoke cleared, Langan — the leader of a neo-Nazi gang of bank robbers — emerged with minor injuries and was placed under arrest.

"I shot at Mr. Langan to keep him from killing me or anyone else at that scene," Jeff Lindsey said.

There is no question that federal agents won the gunbattle last year outside 585 Reinhard Ave. But one of the questions before a jury in Judge John D. Holschuh's courtroom in U.S. District Court is who started it.

Langan, convicted in February of five charges involving 1994 bank robberies on the Far East Side and in Springfield, Ohio, faces seven charges from that encounter with federal agents.

Though some FBI agents said they heard shots go by them, there is no physical evidence that Langan ever fired a weapon. The pointing of a loaded gun at federal agents, however, constitutes assault.

Langan's attorneys contend that agents opened fire as their client scrambled from the driver's seat to the back of the van and that Langan never had time to point a gun.

"The only conceivable way to survive this onslaught is to lie low, which is exactly what Mr. Langan did," defense attorney Kevin Durkin told the jury yesterday in opening statements.

Assistant U.S. Attorneys Robyn Jones and Dana Peters said federal agents had the Reinhard Avenue duplex under surveillance in hopes of arresting Langan on a warrant from Georgia.

About 9:40 a.m. Jan. 18, 1996, Langan, 39, left the duplex and got into the van. Seven federal agents closed in on the vehicle and ordered Langan to surrender, Lindsey testified.

He raised his hands, then dove for the back of the van. A few seconds later, Langan popped up, crouched between the front seats and pointed the handgun, he said.

"After I fired, I lost Mr. Langan from sight. He either fell or went back behind the seat," Lindsey said.

After the shooting stopped, an agent shouted for Langan to come out.

Lindsey said he watched in "utter amazement" when Langan slowly emerged. He had only a cut under an eye and abrasions on his back, Jones said.

In opening statements, Jones said a gun was found in Langan's pants pocket, with ammunition. A silver .380-caliber semiautomatic handgun was found in the van near blood. Another gun, a rifle, a grenade, a metal pipe bomb and more than 3,000 rounds of ammunition also were in the vehicle.

As a convicted felon, it was illegal for Langan to have the weapons.

In opening statements, Durkin questioned whether Langan had time to dive into the back of the van and emerge pointing the weapon before shots were fired.

"We expect the evidence is going to show that the direction of the gunfire didn't start in the back," Durkin said. "Instead you are going to find the direction of gunfire started at the front seat as (Langan) turned and scrambled to the back."

Langan's attorneys will get a chance to cross-examine Lindsey today.

The trial is expected to last four to six weeks. The jury consists of seven women and five men; all four alternates are women. There is one black on the jury and two serving as alternates.

The racial composition of the jury was a concern of the defense during a pretrial hearing because of Langan's admitted ties to racist groups. Blacks accounted for six of the first 13 people on a list of 265 prospective jurors. The proportion was far greater than the 9.2 percent of blacks in the central and southern Ohio population in general.

Attorneys agreed to a compromise proposed by Holschuh, in which the same blacks who were in the original pool remained but their position on the jury list changed.
